

Fighting the Epidemic

A new strain of flu virus is sweeping across the country.

As the management team of a small healthcare practice, you are in charge of ordering anti-viral medicine.

How many boxes of anti-viral medicine will you need to order?

You do not wish to order too many or too few.

Use the clues on the cards to calculate a sensible estimate.

- Deal out the cards
- Take it in turns to select one piece of information that you think is important and read it to the rest of the group
- You can write something down on the group's answer sheet but you must not show anyone any of your cards (even after you have read them out)

As a group, try to find a sensible number of boxes of antiviral medicine to order.

