

The Further Mathematics Support Programme

Oxford Entrance Exam Preparation

A half-day event to help prepare for the Entrance Maths Test (EMAT) usually required by Oxford University and Imperial College London.

Event details:

Saturday 15th October 2016

9am – 12:30pm

Mathematical Sciences, University of Nottingham

This course will be an intensive half-day preparation event for the Oxford Maths Entrance Test (also used by Imperial College, London) and will be delivered by David Hulme, a highly experienced A-Level teacher and presenter of such material.

The course is intended for students applying for degree courses in Mathematics (G100), Mathematics & Statistics (GG13) or Mathematics and Philosophy (GV15).

The course aims to test the depth of mathematical understanding rather than a breadth of knowledge. Students will get the chance to work on their problem solving skills and try out numerous exam questions.

**The fee for this event is £20 per student to include resources and refreshments****
